GEN. AGUINALDO,

The Filipino President and Commander Captured.

Betrayed by His Followers Into the Hands of Gen. Fred Funston.

Manila, March, 28.--Gen. Frederick Funston's daring project for the capture of Gen. Aguinaldo in his hiding place in the province of Isabella, Island of Luzon, has proved completely successful. Aguinaldo was captured there on March 23.

The United States gunboat Vicksburg, Commander E. B. Barry, with Gen. Funston and Gen. Aguinaldo on board, arrived here this morning.

The province of Isabella is about 200 miles Northeast of Manila. Gen. Funston, with the consent of Gen. McArthur, left Manila two weeks ago on his perilous expedition.

Last January, from his headquarters in the province of Isabella, Aguinaldo wrote letters condemning in the severest terms the subchiefs who had taken the oath of allegiance to the United States. Later the Filipino President and Commander-in-chief ordered the forces in Southern Luzon to join him at a rendezvous in Isabella province. The officers entrusted with these orders traitorously negotiated with the Americans, and the bold scheme of Gen. Funston was the out-come of the information gleaned from these officers.

When all necessary information had been secured, the intrepid Kasaan, in company with Surgeon Major Harris, Capt. Newton, Lieut. Mitchell, Lieut. Admire, six veteran scouts and a company of native scouts, all picked men, embarked on the Vicksburg and were landed on a remote beach above Baler.

It was arranged that Aguinaldo's emissary, with the native scouts, should pass themselves off as insurgents who, having captured Gen. Funston and others, were taking them as prisoners to Aguinaldo. At the right time, when brought before the Commander-in-Chief of the Filipinos, Gen. Funston was to give a signal, and Aguinaldo was to be seized.

The remains were interred in the Clark burying ground yesterday.

DIED IN NEW YORK.

Bailey Richards Passes Away
While on a Business Trip.

Body Will Arrive Home This Morning and be Buried at 2:30 p. m.

Jas. Bailey Richards, manager of The Richards Co., the big dry goods establishment on the corner of Main and Eighth streets, died in New York city last Tuesday at 6 o'clock a. m., of an attack of acute gastritis.

On Monday a telegram was received from Wm. Taylor & Son, proprietors of the St. Dennis Hotel, stating that his condition was alarming and Mrs. Richards and her brother, Dr. R. F. McDaniel, at once started for New York and were enroute when the further news was received the following morning. Mr. Richards had intended to start home Sunday but was taken ill just before his business was concluded. He had been in New York several weeks buying spring goods.

Mrs. Richards and her brother arrived Wednesday and started on their return that night and will reach home with the body at 9:45 this morning.

The funeral will take place from the Methodist Church at 2:30 this afternoon and the burial will take place in Hopewell cemetery.

Bailey Richards, as he was known to his friends, was one of the most progressive young business men of the city. He was born in Stewart county, Tenn., in 1862 and came to this city from Dover, in 1881, and began his mercantile career as a salesman for E. W. Henderson & Son.

Later he held positions in other houses and was book-keeper for several years for C. M. Latham. About ten years ago he became associated with the firm of Richards, Klein & Co., which was succeeded by the present house of which he had been the head for two years, representing the New York firm of H. B. Claflin & Co.

Starting in life without capital, he had always had to labor under disadvantages, but had risen by his own exertions and popularity to a position of prominence and high standing in mercantile circles. He was universally popular and in business matters he had the fullest confidence of the public.

He was upright, honest and straightforward. Generous, kind-hearted and charitable in his dealings with those less fortunate than himself. His business foresight was clear and correct and under favorable circumstances he would have become a highly successful merchant. He possessed a bright mind, quick perception and a concentration of purpose that made him a leader in whatever he undertook.

His industry and indomitable energy caused him to wreck his health in close application to his business and he was really ill when he went to New York, against the advice of his friends, to buy spring goods.

His death leaves a vacancy in the business circles of Hopkinsville that cannot be filled. His individuality was so identified with the establishment of which he was head, that it is doubtful if any attempt will be made to find a successor to Bailey Richards.

Mr. Richards was married in 1886 to Miss Sallie McDaniel, who survives him. Near relatives are his father, Mr. A. C. Richards, and a brother and sister who live here.

He carried several thousand dollars of life insurance. The exact amount is not yet known, as he took out a new policy last fall.

Prisoners at Work.

The work-house prisoners, numbering a dozen or more, are at work on the public road near Gracely. They have been engaged for several days making a fill through the Lander pond, just East of West Union church.

THE COUNTRY EDITOR.

Secured a Practical Joke on His Old College Chum.

Two or three years ago a University of Wisconsin man went up into the woods and opened a law office. It was a lone case of a place and after a time, more for recreation than for profit, he acquired the ownership of the weekly newspaper. Since then the paper has become the pride of his heart and the misprision of his existence, and upon it he has lavished the time and thought that under other circumstances he might have given to society and its distractions. The very color of its ink is with him a theme for an hour's animated monologue and when the Weekly Tribune changed its headline a month or so ago, he sent copies to all his college friends, with the announcement of the event neatly lined in defiance of the postal laws. There is one man in town, however, to whom he did not send a copy, though the two were college chums; but it's only because every week there comes addressed to this man, in the care of the University club, the Weekly Tribune in all its glory. And every time the chumman sees a grin smile illumine his face, a grin which he knows while he ponders over ways in which to return the practical joke the law-editor of the woodland village perpetrated on him last spring. In arbutus time, the Milwaukee man, with an eye to surprising the girl of his heart, sent the man in the woods a two-dollar bill asking him to forward a basket of the fragrant spring blossoms, and adding, by way of jovial postscript, that if there was any change he was to have a drink at the expense of his old varsity friend. The days went by and the arbutus did not come. Then the Weekly Tribune began to appear and a little later came a letter from its editor explaining that as the arbutus season was over he had invested $1.50 of the money sent in a year's subscription to the Weekly Tribune, which was much more to aesthetic purpose, he asserted, and he returned the change.

"If you want me to take a drink on you," the letter wound up, "please return the 30 cents."

So the exchange table of the University club is frequently enlivened by copies of the Weekly Tribune, which sets forth at length the doings of the place in the woods, and the man whose sweetest went without her basket of arbutus is waiting for a chance to get even.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

BIG TRADE IN VEILINGS.

Immense Business Done by New York Wholesale Dealers.

"A faint idea of the immense business that was done last year in the dry goods district of our city," said a wholesale dealer in veilings in New York to a Washington Star reporter recently, "may be formed when it is known that the trade in veilings alone amounted to between $7,500,000 and $8,000,000. No veilings are manufactured in this country. It is all imported, and fully five-sixths of it comes from France, while the other fraction is manufactured in Nottingham, England, for the American market."

"The demand for veilings is increasing every year in a far greater ratio than is the population. Three times more are sold now than ten years ago. Fashion, of course, has much to do with the demand, and at present the material is used by women with extensively. Every lace and rich ornament carries veilings, and they may also be had in a number of dry goods stores, but there are five or six houses in New York which sell what is called and nothing else. The prices range from five cents to five dollars per yard, and more if special is ordered. To the inexperienced purchaser it would be almost to use the small piece of veiling in the high-priced lot than the low worth $1.00 one. It would not be difficult to select such a package away in one's own pocket. The duty on imports is 20 per cent."

Protects Forests Against Fire.

Systematic protection of the forests against fire is an issue before the New Jersey legislature. The total forest area of New Jersey is more than 2,000,000 acres, which is believed to be larger in proportion to its size than that of any other middle state. The proposed protective measures will follow the general lines of a suggestion made by Gifford Pinchot, an authority on forestry, which involves a system of fire lines, to be patrolled daily by wardens.

Pointer for Ambitious Poets.

Any fool can write poetry—but the wise editor doesn't allow it to appear in his paper.—Chicago Daily News.

"I've got a little touch of indigestion," says one man. Another says, "my stomach feels a little out of sorts." It is just such little things which if neglected mean the total loss of health. The one medicine for disorders and diseases of the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It increases the activity of the whole digestive and nutritive system, cures all obstructions, stops the loss of the body's sustenance by undigested or partly digested food, purifies the blood from the poisons resulting from imperfect digestion, and increases the secretions of the blood-making glands. "Golden Medical Discovery" has a wonderful record of cures of so-called "hopeless" cases.

Mr. Thomas H. Keadell, of Lincoln County, N. C. says: "After having suffered from indigestion and all the troubles usually attending such a condition for over twenty years, and having deluged my system with foods of medicine from every available source, and being only temporarily benefited thereby, I applied to your medicine for treatment. You instructed me to take a course of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which I am now doing. Although unable to strictly follow directions I have derived more actual benefit from the few bottles I have taken so far than from all the other remedies combined."

Allow me to thank you for your prompt and courteous attention to my case as well as for the good received from it."

Burglars blew open the safe in the bank at Columbus, Ky., and stole from $7,000 to $10,000 in cash.

The wife of Dr. E. Thompson, of Georgetown, cut her own throat and that of her three-year-old child with a razor. Mother and child were found dead in a pool of blood.

Gold has been discovered in the middle of the town of Cowlitz, Wash., yielding $20 to $30 to the ton. A company with $750,000 capital will develop the mine.

The President has made the Commission of the St. Louis Exposition a dumping ground for "dead ducks" who were winged in the elections last fall. While finding these fat places for defeated candidates, he has charged up to the Democratic party in this so-called non-partisan board of trustees of Illinois, who have not voted a Democratic ticket in five years, and nearly all of them have been repudiated by their own State as Senators or Representatives. The Chicago Record says that only two of the nine are competent to do the work to be done.

Industrial topics are prominent in the editorial discussion which occupies the opening pages of the April Review of Reviews. The editor's comment on the formation of the "billion dollar" steel company, and on the threatened strike of the anthracite coal miners are pointed and instructive. There are also several suggestive paragraphs on the recent railroad consolidation, the question of government ownership in Canada, and modern transportation problems in general, including an exposition of the American canal policy.

The Chicago Record has been sold by Victor F. Lawson to H. H. Kohlsaat, of the Times-Herald, and will be consolidated with the latter under the name of the Record-Herald. Mr. Lawson will devote his entire time to his other great paper, the Chicago News. The distinctive features which have made the Record one of the most widely read papers in America will be continued in the Record-Herald.

Twice Proven.

The Vinicator, Rutherfordton, N. C.

The editor of the Vinicator, has had occasion to test the efficacy of Chamberlain's Pain Balm twice with the most remarkable results in each case. First, with rheumatism in the shoulder with which he had suffered excruciating pain for two days, which was relieved with two applications of Pain Balm, rubbing the parts affected and realizing instant benefit and entire relief in a very short time. Second, in rheumatism in thigh joint, almost prostrating him with severe pain, which was relieved by two applications, rubbing with the liniment on retiring at night and getting up free from pain. Sold by all drug stores.

It is not in disparagement of the other contents of The Century for April that one claims priority of interest for the last of its "body" articles, "Personal Reminiscences of Queen Victoria." This very entertaining paper is unsigned, the writer merely saying of Her Majesty: "I saw her constantly in the summer of 1886, during my four weeks' peep into English court life, while temporarily forming part of an illustrious personage, a guest of the Queen's, at Osborne House." The reminiscences include many authentic and characteristic anecdotes. Next in popular interest among the features of this number we should put the paper that immediately precedes it, on "Malaria and Certain Mosquitoes." This has some of the pungency and attractive quality of a mosquito-bite, and is certain to attract attention in every mosquito-ridden quarter of our land. The author L. O. Howard, Chief Entomologist of the Department of Agriculture, has for many years been engaged in a war of extermination against these potent propagators of disease.

"I have taken Ayer's Pills for 30 years, and I consider them the best laxative. One pill does me more good than half a box of any other kind. I have never tried."

"DOING" NEW YORK.

Had Letter of Introduction From Gen. Joseph Wheeler.

A dispatch from New York to the Louisville Republic says Henry Drexler, Hopkinsville, Ky., boy walked up to the "chief front" at the Waldorf-Astoria Sunday night, told him he was broke and asked for a room and a few meals. "I wouldn't have to ask you for them," he said, "if I could only find Gen. Joseph Wheeler, but I can't find him." To prove he was honest, young Drexler produced a complimentary letter of introduction from Gen. Wheeler. The boy said he had gone to see the inauguration, and had then decided to "do" New York. He didn't get a Waldorf-Astoria room, but the "chief front" gave him money for lodging and food elsewhere.

FARMER'S MISFORTUNE.

Dwelling and Contents Destroyed During High Wind.

The dwelling of Mr. Collins Wood, of the Bainbridge neighborhood, was destroyed by fire, entailing a heavy loss with no insurance. Mr. Wood was at work in the field and his wife was in the garden when the flames were discovered. The wind was blowing a perfect gale and the building and contents were soon in ashes. The dwelling was a new one and was nicely furnished. Mr. Wood is one of the county's best citizens and his misfortune is much regretted by his host of friends. It is understood that he will rebuild at an early date.

MAMMOTH INFANT.

Nortonville Baby Weighed Twenty Pounds at Birth.

Mrs. Alonzo Williams, wife of the Illinois Central section foreman at Nortonville, gave birth to a child that weighed twenty pounds. The child was dead. The mother is a small woman, weighing 100 pounds.

Bill Gunn, a colored tough, was arrested and put in jail Wednesday, charged with beating an old negro woman named Viney Washington, the night before.

VENERABLE CITIZEN

Passes Away This Week Esteemed by Many Friends.

Mr. Shurvin T. Winfree, one of the county's old and esteemed citizens, died at his home at Casky, last Monday afternoon, at the ripe old age of 82 years.

He was born in Powhattan county, Va., Mar. 7, 1819, and after marrying Miss Elmira B. Atkinson, in 1840, came to Summer county, Tenn., two years later. In 1848 he moved to Christian county and settled near this city.

Fourteen children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Winfree. Of these ten are still living, viz: William P., Jas. H., Thos. S., Matt P., Alex. A. and five daughters, all married. Two sons, Geo. W. and Julius R., died a few years ago.

Mr. Winfree's funeral services were held Tuesday, the body being interred in Hopewell cemetery. Six grandsons acted as pallbearers.

The third article on pearls by Mr. Myer, is to be found in this issue. Much additional interest is manifested and the results are beginning to accrue. We predict many finds in the near future. In the words of Mr. Myer, "Perseverance wins." He has shown this by his own work. For sixteen years he has persevered in spreading the good news over the country and his perseverance has won a fortune for many a poor laboring man who has been induced to try the work. To succeed follow the advice of a man who is a success, and stick to the work on the bed nearest your home.

When you are getting nice pearls and nice sums of money for them do not forget that this paper first called your attention to this way of getting wealth.

Remains of Gen. Green.

The remains of the revolutionary hero, Gen. Nathaniel Greene, have been located after being lost for 115 years. They were found at Savannah, Ga., through the efforts of the Rhode Island Society of the Cincinnati. For a week Col. Asa Bird Gardner, of New York, and a local committee have been at work in the Colonial Park, formerly used as a cemetery, searching for some trace of the remains. A brick-work vault was opened which contained a plate bearing the name of Gen. Greene, and there were also found three buttons of the colonial period that are supposed to have been on the uniform of Gen. Greene when he was buried.

"APRIL SHOWERS"

Season Will Have Winter Accompaniments Says Weather Man

In April forecasts Rev. Dr. R. Hicks predicts some winter weather for the month. Following is a summary of the forecasts:

Very high temperature in most parts, with low barometer and rain, hail and thunder, may be expected promptly on or next to the 1st. Storminess with heavy rains will continue up to about the 4th. Very cool weather will follow on the heels of this first storm period, with possibly late snow northward and frosts in many sections, even central to southward, from about the 4th to 7th.

On the 8th and 9th will fall a marked change to warmer, the barometer will react to lower readings and heavy April rains, hail and thunder will visit many sections. From 12th to 18th look for vicious electrical storms attended by hail, rain and dangerous winds. About the latter date storms in all probability will prove widespread and heavy. Another dash of high barometer, cold winds and frosty nights northward, will be the order behind the storm conditions of this period.

From 25th to 28th look for storms of much energy, with heavy rain and hail. In extreme northern parts there is a possibility of sleet and snow during this last April period. But all along the south side of low barometric pressure, look for heavy vernal rains, culminating in electrical storms.

April will bring many extremes of very warm weather and quite cool weather—a war with northerly and southerly currents. Rains will be sufficient generally, amounting to cloudbursts frequently—too wet for lowlands.

HIGHER TENDENCY

Has Local Tobacco Market With Advance Firmly Maintained.

All grades of the weed were active this week and rejections amounted to only ten per cent of the offerings. There were 112 hogsheads sold and very satisfactory prices were realized. Receipts were 355 hogsheads, an increase over those of the week before. Receipts for the year amount to 2,900 hogsheads. Advances heretofore reported were firmly maintained and the market has a decidedly higher tendency. No fine leaf made its appearance, but medium leaf commanded from $8 to $9.50. The following quotations represent the market for the week: com. lugs $4 to $4.15; med. lugs $4.25 to $4.75; good lugs $4.75 to $5.50; low leaf $6.50 to $6.50; com. leaf $6.75 to $7.50; med. leaf $8 to $9.50.

EX-PRIME MINISTER OF HAWAIIAN ISLANDS

Commends Peruna to His Friends as a Positive Catarrh Remedy.

Hon. Celso Cesar Moreno, Ex-Prime Minister of Hawaii.

The Hon. Celso Cesar Moreno, ex-Prime Minister of Hawaii, and proprietor of the Trans-Pacific cable, 1879, is a distinguished statesman, and the best known Italian in the country. In a letter from Washington, D. C., to the Peruna Medicine Co., he says:

"I can commend your great national catarrh cure, Peruna, to my friends throughout the country as a safe, reliable medicine. I know of no other tonic that will build a person up as well as Peruna. It is a positive cure for the universal disease, catarrh, and those who will try this remarkable medicine will find a sure cure."

FRANK RIVES, Master Commissioner.

After being married three years, the average man can fool his wife as easily as he used to fool his mother.

It is not so much what the news papers say, as to what neighbor says to neighbor, or friend to friend that has brought Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera, and Diarrhoea Remedy into such general use. It was natural for people to express their gratitude after using this remedy, as it is for water to flow down hill. It is the one remedy that can be depended upon, whether a baby be sick with cholera infantum or a man be sick with cholera morbus. It is pleasant and reliable. Have you a bottle of it in your home? Sold by all druggists.

Probably Jonah had no idea his wife would believe him when he told her where he had been, any way.

A Good Cough Medicine For Children.

"I have no hesitancy in recommending Chamberlain's cough remedy," says F. P. Moran, a well known and popular baker, of Petersburg, Va. "We have given it to our children when troubled with bad coughs, also whooping cough, and it has always given perfect satisfaction. It was recommended to me by a druggist as the best cough medicine for children, as it contained no opium or other harmful drug." Sold by all druggists.

Charles B. Boyer, 100 W. Washington Street, Morrisania, Pa., writes:

"My oldest daughter, Malinda Boyer, secured of deafness by Peruna. When she began to take Peruna we had to go outside to her and talk very loud to make her hear."

"After taking one-half dozen bottles of Peruna she can hear you in any part of the room. She can hear an ordinary conversation."

Thousands of people have catarrh who would be surprised to know it, because it has been called some other name than catarrh. The fact is, catarrh is catarrh wherever located; and another fact which is of equally great importance, that Peruna cures catarrh wherever located.

Catarrh is an American disease. Fully one-half of the people are afflicted more or less with it in some form. Previous to the discovery of Peruna, catarrh was considered well nigh incurable. Since the introduction of Peruna to the medical profession thousands of cases are cured annually.

Mr. W. M. Holland, of Hartwell, Ga., proprietor of the Hartwell Tin Works, writes of Peruna as follows:

"I am more than pleased with the benefits derived from Peruna. The winter of 1899 my weight was 150 pounds. I used several bottles during the winter and now weigh 211."

"I have recommended it to all my friends both as a tonic and catarrh cure. If I had been lucky enough to have seen it several years ago Peruna would have saved me much inconvenience. I can never be too thankful to you for the benefits received from your valuable remedy. My mother has also been wonderfully benefited by your valuable remedy."

PEARLS;

How to Find and How to Value Them.

Copyright 1909, by Herman Myer, Pearl Expert of 41 & 43 Maiden Lane, New York City.

RECIPE III.

Now a word about the value of pearls. You will find that almost never are two pearls found exactly alike. While many of them are round, the rest will be discovered to be of almost every imaginable shape. Only those which are bright

Various Forms of Pearls.

No. 1 Round.
No. 2 Button or hemispherical (sometimes called half-round).
No. 3 Pear-shaped.
No. 4 Baroque of a salable shape.
No. 5 and 6 Lump and wing shapes of no salable value, unless when very large and bright they sometimes have a nominal value.

have the least cent of value. Only those which are round or hemispherical (which is sometimes called half-round or button-shaped) or pear-shaped, have much value. Those which are rough but are bright and have a flat back with a general round or oval-shaped surface like No. 4 in the illustration have some value. You will find them in large quantities which are shaped like hands, bird wings, spinners and similar articles, like Nos. 5, 6 and 7, but as these are found in enormous quantities and have no use in jewelry and are not curiosities, they have no value.

Round, half-round and pear-shaped pearls are the varieties of shape used in jewelry. When perfect and of fine luster these bring enormous sums of money. Those which are in the shape of barrels, mallets, cartridges, collar buttons, etc., seldom have any value. The reason is that the pearls are used only in the shape they are found. These cannot be shaped into round, half-round or pear-shaped pearls without spoiling their luster, and hence cannot be used in jewelry, and being found in great numbers they are not curiosities.

Pearls less than $\frac{1}{4}$ of an inch in diameter seldom have any value, or at most only a few cents each. As pearls go above this size they rapidly increase in value.

In judging pearls, brilliancy, smoothness, shape, perfection, size and color are to be observed in the order given. First I will give you a few definitions of words which are commonly used in speaking of pearls.

By luster is meant the shine of a pearl. A brilliant luster is a luster like the brightest part of the inside of the very brightest shell. A pearl possessing a brilliant luster is said to shine if it is. If a pearl looks like a piece of bone or a white marble it has no luster and hence has no value. By smoothness is meant the regularity of the surface. A steel bicycle bearing ball or a new glass marble is smooth but not brilliant.

BRILLIANCY. A pearl must be brilliant to have any value, whatever its shape or size. However round or large it may be, if it is perfectly dull, it has no value. Usually, value will run in something like this order: If a perfect pearl be very brilliant and worth $50, then one which is a little less brilliant would be worth $30; if of a good bright luster it would be worth $20, and if medium luster it would be worth $10. If dull it is worthless.

and pear shaped pearls have about equal value, weight for weight. Any shape departing from these is seldom worth $\frac{1}{2}$ as much. Some shapes are worth almost nothing at all, even when perfect otherwise. A few pearls when of the shape indicated in illustration No. 4 have a small value or about one-fifth of what a perfect hemispherical pearl of the same size and weight would be worth.

PERFECTION.—By this is meant freedom from any cracks, dark or dull spots, rings or ridges. If a pearl of this size and hemispherical, or like No. 2 should have a face which is perfect in every respect would be worth $50, it would be worth only about $15 if it had a tiny dull spot about this size and at point indicated; remember not a dark spot but simply a dull cloudy spot. In ordinary things one is apt to reason this way: If a pearl be worth $50 and it had a spot about this size which is one-fifth of the total size, then one-fifth of the value would be taken off and the pearl would be worth $9. But pearls are not ordinary things and this way of reasoning does not suffice in the least. The cause of this great reduction of value when it has a tiny imperfection is this: Wealthy people who have plenty of money to spare and wish to buy pearls buy them because they're beautiful. Those who have a tiny imperfection are not beautiful and they do not want them. They are willing to take a smaller one which is perfect. So the imperfect ones remain on the jeweler's hands year after year until he almost gives them away at a very small price. So jewelers do not wish imperfect pearls at the smallest prices. Sometimes a dealer will buy your poor ones along with your good ones to encourage and help you. They will endeavor to sell them at what they gave for them and so get out even on poor ones.

SIZE.—If pearls are exactly alike in every other way they rapidly increase in value as they increase in size, and on the other hand, rapidly decrease in value as they decrease in size. Weight is much the same thing as size. Round and pear-shaped pearls obey this rule more readily than other shaped pearls. Rough pearls do not follow this rule. Very small rough pearls have no value. Medium size rough pearls increase in value in about the proportion of double value for double weight. Very large rough pearls do not double in value as they double in size. The reason for this is a different use for different sizes.

COLOR.—Dark, metallic green pearls, found in only one small river in America, are the most valuable pearls in the world. They are worth more than similar ones found in the northern part of the Island of Yeddo, in Japan. Usually speaking, colored pearls, unless rare about three-eighths of an inch in size, are not so valuable as white. The reason for this is that small colored pearls are not used to set around other stones in jewelry as small white pearls are used, and hence they have no value. Large colored pearls are not so much desired as white ones. Only clear, clean looking colors are desired. Yellow is a very poor color. Light pink is a good color. Dark pink is not. Browns are of little value. Deep reds are about the same value as white. Perfectly black pearls, if bright, are worth a little more than white. If not bright they have no value. It is a general rule without exception that colored pearls must be perfect to have any great value. Dull and imperfect colored pearls are not salable except at very low prices.

In white pearls those of a silvery metallic white color like a clean new drop of mercury, and which seem to have a light glowing inside them, have the most value.

The reasons for most of these rules become perfectly evident with the possession of a little knowledge of the pearl jewelry trade and fashions. A pearl jeweler can only say what he can sell, and he can only sell this and that for certain reasons. Sometimes he himself cannot understand the reasons. For instance, colored pearls are used only as centres of brooches and rings. Their use is limited. They can seldom be matched. Hence they do not have as much value for the reason that then too, people and expect white pearls, so that the sales for colored ones are not as frequent as for white ones. Therefore they are not so desirable to the jeweler. In some localities only white pearls can be sold.

Now remember distinctly that while these rules (when fully understood) apply quite clearly to pearls the day I write this, they will vary greatly from month to month and year to year as the fashions and the market change. While they may remain, as a whole, during this year, they are not to be absolutely depended upon. Remember also that no two men describe anything anywhere alike, and under no circumstances can a pearl's value be given or a bid made upon it until the pearls are seen. In your first hour or two of work you may find a pearl which seems to you perfect, but when your attention is called to it you will see its many imperfections. Perhaps in a few days you may find a very fine one, which will lead you, yourself, to see the many imperfections in the first one you find.

It is a small concentrated medicine, the dose is small, yet it quickly produces the most gratifying results, digestion improves, the lips and cheeks lose their pallor, the eyes become bright and the step lively. Price, 50 cents. R. C. Hardwick.

The only way of setting the will free is to deliver it from wilfulness.

Eugene J. Hall, the poet and publisher, says that one dose of Foley's Honey and Tar restored his voice, which he had lost for several weeks, and that it quickened his intellect. Nothing else as good. All druggists.

Patience is better, but its fruit is sweet.

For all pulmonary troubles Ballard's Horehound Syrup, taken in the early stages, cures quickly and sure proof. It is effective in cough, and if used in season it is the further development of consumption. Price, 50 cents. R. C. Hardwick.

A man is a fool who gets married before he has an excuse not to.

Keep insurance.

Many a man who is insured against fire, life, and theft, is not insured against a fifty cent cure.

Woman is the chief mystery and the other half of life.

A man can only make his wife sweet like his own pipe, by boiling her in the fire of the world without a hot bottom.

"It's the look, not within the lute which ever winning, makes the music mute." It is just a little rift in the heart of a woman often, which gradually takes the spring from her step, the light from her eyes, the rose from her cheek and the music from her voice. Perhaps the bugbear which has frightened the woman from the time she is needed at the beginning has been the dread of questions, the anxious examination, the local treatment, the local physician. There is no need for these. Nor is there need for continued suffering. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription can be relied on by every woman suffering from what are called "female troubles," to renew the health and cure the disease. Women are astonished at the results of the use of this medicine. It not only makes weak women robust and healthy checked, but it gives them back the vigor and vitality of youth.

Mr. J. W. Patterson, night police at Nashua, Ia., says: "In January I had a very bad cold on my lungs, and used half dozen different medicines and prescriptions from two doctors, but grew worse all the time. I finally bought a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar and after using two-thirds of it, I was completely cured." All druggists.

MAKING NEWS.

How a London Correspondent Got Ahead of His Rivals.

The layman who is unacquainted with newspaper methods may be interested in knowing just how one goes about making a piece of news. The best illustration of this, perhaps, says Allen Sanger, in Amulet, is Arthur Brisbane's arrangement for John L. Sullivan to box before the prize of Wales. At the time Mr. Brisbane was London correspondent for the New York Sun. It should be understood that the competition among the London representatives is just as keen as though they were serving their separate papers on Park Row, and, though living in an atmosphere of less aggressive journalism, they never, for a moment, forget their American education. In this matter Mr. Brisbane was actuated by no other motive than to triumph over his rivals with a legitimate heat, and he found the great American bruiser but too glad to second the idea on the percentage of free advertisement. The Sun man worked quietly, quickly, and so successfully that the night for the performance came without anyone knowing of it excepting the prince, his friends and the members of the fashionable club that sheltered the 12-foot ring.

At the moment when the referee stepped out to announce the fighters the prince's query discovered that there was present an untitled person, and, what was more deplorable, a newspaper man. As the result of this discovery, Mr. Brisbane was ordered to leave the club instantly.

"But," he objected, "I am responsible for this whole thing. You are not going to put me out?"

"The query would not hear him, and Mr. Brisbane, desperate and angry, played his last card. "Well, John," he said, turning to where the champion stood toyed with one huge-pickled paw, "I've got to go. What'll you do?"

"That's what I'll do," replied the champion of the world, picking up his coat and glaring savagely at the query. If that young fellow goes, then I'll go, understand?" and the audience was dismayed to see fighter and reporter abandon the ringside. It would not do, however, to disappoint his royal highness so disgracefully, and the query and Mr. Brisbane finally compromised by the latter promising to write the account only for the American press. The Sun, of course, had a great beat next day, and every newspaper in America and England quoted the anecdote of John L.'s reception by Albert Edward.

Mr. Sullivan's speech at that period had extreme limitations, and when introduced to a distinguished person he invariably used the same set phrase. To the present king of England, after shaking hands, he observed with dignity and cheerfulness: "Prince, I'm glad to meet you. I've often heard of you."

HE PASSED ON.

Lawyer Fails in Attempt to Learn a Woman's Age.

"And what is your age, madam?" was the attorney's question.

"My own," she answered, promptly. "I understand that, madam; I mean how old are you?"

"I am not old, sir," with indignation.

"I beg your pardon, madam. I mean how many years have you passed?"

"None; the years have passed me."

"How many of them have passed you?"

"All; I never heard of them stopping."

"Madam, you must answer my question; I want to know your age."

"I don't know that the acquaintance is desired by the other side."

"If I don't see why you insist upon refusing to answer my question," said the attorney, coaxingly. "I am sure I would tell you how old I was if I were asked."

"But nobody would ask you, for everybody knows you are old enough to know better than to be asking a woman her age."

And the attorney passed on to the next question—Nashville American.

Barber with a New Method.

A Greek barber has opened a shop in New York to make popular a new way of cutting hair. He uses shears only for trimming the hair over the ears and at the back of the neck. For cutting the long hair he uses a very sharp razor. He runs the hair through a fine comb and slices it off to the right length. He says that this method not only cuts the hair evenly, but also removes all dead hairs. Moreover, he alleges that it is twice as quick as the old way.
